

case study

Petrolux Energy Corp. - Heather Cunningham, owner

summary:

Needed to increase productivity and save time because all distributions were completed by hand product:

Disbursement and JIB Manager (DM)

problem:

Petrolux was doing its distributions by hand for the family's oil and gas business. They needed to simplify the way they ran the business and save time.

solution:

In 1998 they began using the Disbursement and JIB Manager to enter expenses and income and then distribute funds to the royalty holders, working interests holders, etc.

result:

Doing a distribution only takes a couple days per month now, where it used to be a full time job.

"I cannot say enough good things about the customer support team," said Heather Cunningham, owner of Petrolux Energy Corp. "Everyone is extremely helpful. I learned this software in 8 hours from shadowing my aunt while she used it. It's very easy to learn and a valuable asset to my company! I can't imagine doing a distribution without it!"